The Forum for Fostering Dialogue and Innovation in Nursing

In this period of rapid healthcare transformation, the American Nurses Foundation is uniquely positioned to provide a forum for fostering groundbreaking dialogue and innovative outcomes while recognizing the leading organizations that truly value nurses' roles in this evolution.

The American Nurses Foundation Corporate Advisory Board furthers the Foundation's mission to transform the nation's health through the power of nursing. This partnership is a platform designed to foster closer collaboration and dialogue with the leadership of the American Nurses Association (ANA), the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) and the American Nurses Foundation on issues of importance to healthcare. Specifically, our corporate members will have a unique opportunity to discuss developments in nursing and share their perspectives on key issues. The board will participate in identifying trends, discussing policy and laying the foundation for future collaboration that will benefit patients, nurses and our nation's healthcare.

ABOUT US

The mission of the American Nurses Foundation is to transform the nation's health through the power of nursing. Founded in 1955 as the research, education, and charitable affiliate of the American Nurses Association (ANA), the American Nurses Foundation complements the work of ANA by raising funds and developing and managing grants and programs that support advances in research, education, and clinical practice. Foundation programs benefit the nation's 3.1 million registered nurses, and those they serve, wherever nurses practice.
